

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL Issue Editor: Dr. Ranjith Dayaratne, University of Bahrain, Bahrain.	i
Spatio-Temporal Efficacy of Historic Street Forms in Preserving Domesticity of Vernacular Settlements: Ulsoor, Bangalore, India Monalisa Bharadwaj¹ Sudha Kumari² Ramaiah Institute of Technology, Bangalore, India.	1-19
Kitchen as the Heart of Indonesian Houses: Re-domestication during the Covid-19 pandemic Elita Nuraeny; Widya Laksmi Larasati; Khusnul Hanifati Muhammad Iqbal; Kemas Ridwan Kurniawan Universitas Indonesia Indonesia	20-38
Inspiring User Motivation through Oral Traditions in Conserving Vernacular Houses: Brayut Tourist Village, Yogyakarta, Indonesia Lucia Asdra Rudwiarti, Anna Pudianti, & Stanislaus Marcel Adiwinata Universitas Atma Jaya, Yogyakarta, Indonesia.	39-50
Influences of Culture on the Spatial Development of the Juwana Sub-district of Pati, Central Java, Indonesia Naniek Widayati Priyomarsono Universitas Tarumanagara, Jakarta, Indonesia	51-59
Engaging the Yin-Yang Concept to Produce Comfort and Spatial Experience: An Interior Design for a Chinese Restaurant in Indonesia Djoko Murdowo¹, Nadia Sigi Prameswari², Allicia Sandra Meirissa³ ^{1,3} Telkom University, Bandung, Indonesia ² Universitas Negeri Semarang, Indonesia	60-71
Research Trends in Vernacular Architecture: A Bibliometric Study Naima Benkari ^a , Seyedh Mahboobeh Jamali ^b , Jean Martin Caldieron ^c , Nader Ale Ebrahim ^d ^a Sultan Qaboos University, Muscat, Oman ^b Universiti Sains Malaysia, Penang, Malaysia ^c Florida Atlantic University, Florida, USA ^d Alzahra University, Vanak, Tehran.	72-91